

Orthodontics

For more than 25 years, Dr. John Schacherl has been creating beautiful smiles using traditional straight-wire orthodontics, also known as “braces.” To minimize the amount of time children must spend in their braces, Dr. John is able to provide early interceptive treatments in the form of removable and fixed retainers that utilize a child’s natural facial growth patterns.

For teen and adult patients, Dr. John is able to provide braces using traditional bracket systems as well as the innovative Damon Bracket system that reduces the number of appointments needed to complete treatment. A firm believer that no one is ever too old for braces, Dr. John was himself an orthodontic patient in the late 1990’s.

Dr. John and his son, Jeff, both had traditional orthodontics.
